Select A User's Account: Search Results

When you select another user's account you become a "proxy" user that views MIV with the role and access of the selected user. You will only have access to MIV functionality that the selected user has. For example, selecting the account of a Candidate means that you "proxy" their account as that Candidate, not as an Administrator with Administrator privileges. Only the options available to the Candidate will be available.

Select a column header to sort by that column.
